Clark County Right to Life

A Voice for Life in Southwest Washington since 1970

The movie Unplanned changes a life

What a great honor it is to write here about my experiences this spring with 40 Days for Life in Vancouver, the Unplanned movie, and my hopes for the fair exhibition. First off, I would like to thank everyone involved with 40 Days for Life and everyone who was involved in making the Unplanned movie, it has changed my views on my part in the prolife movement. I first heard about the Unplanned movie through a friend and we all went to watch it together. After watching the movie, I knew I could no longer be silent about abortion, there were thousands of babies being killed every day and although I didn't know anyone personally getting an abortion, I knew I could no longer stay passive in this movement. I spent the next week processing what I had just seen, crying almost every day, and trying to find my voice to speak up for the unborn. I would go watch the movie two more times with different groups of friends each time walking out silent and a little torn inside. Soon after my cousin told me about 40 Days for Life in Vancouver and that they prayed in front of a Planned Parenthood that was just 5 minutes from my house. Of course, I knew I had to go and pray with them, and when I did, I found this to be such an overwhelming and special experience. To be given the privilege to stand and pray for the end of abortion, for all the women who walk into those clinics to find healing, for all the employees to find redemption, and of course for all the babies who would be sacrificed in that clinic was an experience that flooded me with emotions that cannot be described in words. I am so grateful for all the courageous men and women who stand out there, rain or shine, your prayers are heard and one day God will repay all His faithful servants. I cannot wait to volunteer at the CCRTL exhibit at the Clark County Fair this August and boldly stand for life, my hope is that many hearts will be changed and that more and more Americans will begin to see the truth about abortion, so that one day Abby Johnson's words would come to be, "I don't want abortion to just be illegal, I want it to be unthinkable".

I knew I could no longer be silent about abortion...

A message from our President

Greetings, Clark County!

As we approach the Fourth of July to celebrate our nation's freedom, I am reminded of the millions of lives who will never know

..millions of lives who will never know freedom ...

freedom because the abortion industry strips their inherent right to life from them while they are still living in their mothers' wombs. It seems that every time we tune into the radio, open a newspaper or watch TV, we are learning of new developments both for pro-life causes and pro-abortion. We are in full swing of the war over a human being's right to life before birth.

Thanks to Ann Makar who coordinated this event for years. You are missed!

One side is expanding access to execute babies in the womb, while our side has the attention of leaders in America who realize that if there is a heartbeat, there's a baby. Therefore, we cannot condemn the child to death.

You may ask how we can make a difference here locally - especially in a state that historically supports the abortion industry. The key is to give expectant mothers life-affirming options. Most likely, they are scared and alone. Our billboard campaign this past winter was a huge success! We want to make this happen

40 Days for Life: Peaceful, Prayerful Presence

World-wide saved 748 lives from abortion last campaign

Volunteers stand peacefully and pray quietly in the public right of way next to abortion centers and offer life-affirming alternatives to abortion info to customers and passersby. Other volunteers at home or work fast and pray for the end of abortion. While Vancouver's campaign at Planned Parenthood on NE 116th Ave and Mill Plain did not witness any saves this campaign (that we know of), we handed out hundreds of local pregnancy resource info packets to customers and passersby. We were encouraged by the many shows of support and by the new volunteers inspired by the movie Unplanned. We will always thank God for the life saved during our first local campaign in 2009 (man and girlfriend change abortion plan to adoption after seeing volunteers praying there.) Praise the Lord! Next campaign begins Sept. 25, 2019.

Pregnant? You are not alone.
